Is A Brokerage Account Right for You?

There are different ways you can get help with your investments. You should carefully consider which types of accounts and services are right for you.

We are a broker dealer and provide brokerage accounts and services rather than advisory accounts and services. This document gives you a summary of the types of services we provide and the associated cost structure. Please ask us for more information and for our fee schedule. There are some suggested questions on page 2.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

- If you open a brokerage account, expect to pay a transaction-based fee, generally referred to as a commission, every time you buy or sell an investment.
- You may select investments, or we may recommend investments for your account, but the ultimate investment decision as to your investment strategy and the purchase or sale of investments will be yours, unless you have granted your representative trading authorization.
- We can offer you additional services to assist you in developing and executing your investment strategy and monitoring the performance of your account, but you may incur additional fees.
- We will deliver account statements to on a monthly basis for those months where your account has activity, and on a quarterly basis regardless of activity. You will have the choice to receive your statements electronically or via paper.
- We offer a comprehensive selection of investment options. Please ask your representative if we offer the products and services that you are considering investing in.

What are Our Obligations to You?

We must abide by certain laws and regulations in our interactions with you.

- If you choose to have us recommend an investment or an investment strategy involving securities, we must act in your best interest and not place our interests ahead of yours. When we provide any service to you, we must treat you fairly and comply with a number of specific obligations. Unless we agree otherwise, we are not required to monitor your portfolio or investments on an ongoing basis.

- If you choose to have us recommend an investment or investment strategy, the recommendation might conflict with your interests. We must make you aware of any such conflicts and attempt to eliminate them or reduce them.

What fees will I pay?

Fees and costs affect the value of your account over time. Please request a schedule of all fees and charges and ask your financial professional to inform you of the fees and costs that are associated with your account.

- The fees charged are based on specific transactions, rather than the value of your account.
- With stocks or exchange-traded funds, this fee is usually a separate commission. With other investments, such as bonds, this fee may be part of the price you pay for the investment (called a "mark-up" or "mark down"). With mutual funds, this fee (typically called a "load"), is deducted directly from your investment.
- Some investments (such as mutual funds and variable annuities) incur additional fees that will be deducted from your account. With certain investments, such as variable annuities, you may have to pay fees such as "surrender charges" when you sell the investment.
- Our fees vary. The amount you will pay may depend on how much you buy or sell, what type of investment you buy or sell, and what kind of account you have with us. Some fees are negotiable. There is not a minimum size account to investment at LevelX Capital LLC.

Is An Advisory Account Right For You?

You may prefer to open an advisory account with an investment advisor, where you will pay a recurring asset-based fee, based on the value of the cash and investments in your advisory account.

Features of a typical advisory account include:

- Advisors provide advice on a regular basis. They discuss your investment goals, design with you a strategy to achieve your investment goals, and regularly monitor your account.
- You can choose an account that allows the advisor to buy and sell investments in your account without asking you in advance (a "discretionary account") or an account where the advisor may give you advice but only you decide which investments the advisor will buy and sell (a "non-discretionary account").
- Advisors uphold a fiduciary standard that covers the entire investment advisory relationship. They are required to monitor your portfolio, investment strategy and investments on an ongoing basis.
- Advisory accounts incur asset-based fees, regardless of any activity in the account. Asset-based fees are calculated as a percent of your account value and are charged on a predetermined interval (quarterly, semi-annually, etc.). The more assets you have in an advisory account, including cash, the higher the fee will be. The advisor has an incentive to increase the assets in your account.

Conflicts of Interest: We benefit from our recommendations to you.

- We can buy investments from you and sell investments to you from our own accounts (called "acting as principal"). Since we can earn a profit on these trades, it is our responsibility to inform you of any potential risks and how we executed the transaction: through principal or agency.

Key Questions to Ask: Ask our financial professionals these key questions about our investment services and accounts.

1. Given my financial situation, why should I choose a brokerage account?
 2. How much would I pay per year for a typical brokerage account? What would make those fees more or less? What services will I receive for those fees?
 3. What additional costs should I expect in connection with my account?
 4. Do you or your firm receive any payments from anyone besides me in connection with my investments?
 5. What are the most common conflicts of interest in your brokerage accounts? Explain how you will address those conflicts when providing services to my account.
 6. How will you choose investments to recommend for my account?
 7. How often will you monitor my account's performance and offer investment advice?
 8. Do you or your firm have a disciplinary history? If so, for what type of conduct?
 9. What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? Please explain what the abbreviations in your licenses are and what they mean.
 10. Who is the primary contact person for my account? What can you tell me about his/her legal obligations to me?
